1. Thanks for bringing to my attention the letter which you received from [REDACTED]. He seems to be the kind of young man we want for our CT program but, as you suggest, I think we should not encourage him to apply for "single-purpose" employment.

After that, I think he would be well worth further consideration if he would then be interested in an Agency career.

3. I hope this will be helpful to you in your response. If you prefer, we have some fairly standard replies covering these points and would be glad to respond on your behalf.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Emmett D. Echols, Director of Personnel

SUBJECT [REDACTED]

1. On 25 May I received the attached letter from [REDACTED] interested in working for the Agency on matters relating to the RD Program in Vietnam. From his letter and its attachments, he seems like an interesting and serious young man. We do not, of course, hire people in the U.S. to work on specific activities in the way he apparently thinks we may.

2. I think I should reply to [REDACTED] but want to touch base with you before I do. Any letter of reply should, I think, thank him for his interest and point out that we do not take people on for this type of particularly limited activity. Subject to your views, we might want to include a set of application forms, in case he should be more generally interested in staff employment.

3. You will note from his Curriculum Vitae that [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] even if both parties were otherwise interested in pursuing the matter.

4. Please let me know what, if anything, I should do in responding to [REDACTED]
